On Monday, we look forward to welcoming our wonderful GPFS community to a fun-filled afternoon for our annual Summer Festival!

There will be a whole host of exciting stalls, activities and food & drink on offer. Please remember to bring cash as most of our stalls will not be able to facilitate card payments.

Families are encouraged to bring their own picnic blankets, camping chairs and garden games to entertain the kids.

Please bring any nut free cake donations to the school office on Monday morning.

We can't wait to see you there!

Mrs Lamb & the PTFA

End of Year Reports

School reports were sent home with the children today (10th July)

If you require an extra copy for different households, please let the school office know.

If you would like to pop in to discuss reports with your child's class teacher, please let us know. Staff will be available after school on Thursday 17th July.

We are so proud of all of our children for what they have achieved this year!

Mrs Lamb

Children's Work Books

Next week, children will be bringing home all of their fantastic books showcasing their amazing learning journeys this year. If you could send your child to school with a sturdy bag for life next Thursday that would be really helpful.

Tapestry

Reception Parents, please download your Tapestry learning journeys as soon as possible. These will be deleted after 17/07/26 so we can set up our new Nursery and Reception children. We don't want you to lose these precious memories!

Pre-loved Uniform

School jumpers and cardigans do not have to be worn in the last week so we can get pre-loved uniform turned around for anyone wanting to purchase items for September.

Please bring along any pre-loved uniform to the Summer Festival on Monday 13th July (or sooner if not needed). There is a drop off area in the main entrance.

Lost Property

Staff been working have their through a mountain of lost property this week! This will be displayed on the playground at the Summer Festival. Please check for any missing items – any items not claimed will be recycled.

Gold Star Bands

There will be one final celebration assembly next week where children will be awarded any final gold star bands for the year. Please can we ask that any previous bands are returned to school next week to be washed over the summer, ready for recycling in September.

Thank you!

Reading Books

Dear Reception and KS1 parents

Reception and Year 1 parents: Please bring reading records and any Little Wandle & library books into school on Monday.

Year 2 parents: Please bring all reading records, colour band books and library books back on Monday.

If you have multiple books at home from previous weeks, please bring them all back. These can be brought to school in amnesty with no questions asked.

We need all these items brought in to school so that we can get your child organised with a new reading book and pleasure book from the library to take home over the summer.

Reception and year 1, please remember that you can use Big Cat Collins Hub over the summer to read all the amazing Little Wandle books that you have read this year. I have assigned them all week by week as you have read them.

Thank you,
Mr Patterson

Book Bags

As space in school is limited, please only send children with book bags in September. We do not have space to store 30 large backpacks in each cloakroom/classroom.

Thank you

Mrs Lamb

End of Term Book Amnesty

The bookshelves are looking very empty at GPFS. As we approach the end of term, please have a good hunt around and return any reading/library books to your child's class teacher or the office.

Don't worry if it's a huge pile – there'll be no questions asked!

Miss Bell

- Bring in a suitable pen.

Miss Bell and Mr Guest

What a brilliant week we have had outside in this glorious weather. A massive well done to Y2 Miss Tate's Class who have been voted our golden welly winners!

Ms Gasper

Hopefully we'll have lots of lovely beach weather during the summer holidays or you may be heading off to lakes or beaches abroad. This can lead to a great day out but it is worth reminding ourselves about beach and water safety. The RNLI have a fantastic website with lots of information on this: <https://rnli.org/safety>. By using this link you can learn about signs and flags on the beach, what to do if you get in trouble, cold water shock and 'float to live'. There are demonstration videos and information on various risks including riptides. It is not only important to educate ourselves about water safety, but we should talk to our children about how to keep safe both on the beach and in the water. Perhaps you could practise some of the safety tips in our local swimming pool too.

For additional water safety information also see: <https://www.rlss.org.uk/staying-safe-in-on-and-around-the-water>

10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators

TECH-FREE SUMMER FOR TEENS

For many 11- to 16-year-olds, summer can quickly become screen heavy, especially when socialising, entertainment, and downtime all happen via their devices. Encouraging a tech-free summer isn't about banning technology altogether, but about helping young people rediscover friendship, creativity, independence, and the great outdoors. The NHS recommends that young people aged 5 to 18 aim for an average of at least 60 minutes of physical activity each day across the week.

1 BUILD OUTDOOR CHOICE

Teens are more likely to engage when they feel they have a level of control. Create a simple 'summer outdoors menu' with options such as cycling to a favourite café, playing rounders, visiting a skatepark, dog walking, photography walks, geocaching, or helping around the garden. Parents and educators can then ask young people to choose two or three activities each week that interest them.

2 PREPARE THE KIT

Small barriers can stop teenagers going outside, especially if they feel uncomfortable, too hot, or unprepared. Keep a grab bag with sun cream, water, snacks, plasters, a cap, period products, and a lightweight waterproof. During hot weather, plan shade, water breaks, and calmer activities, as vigorous exercise is not advised on very hot days.

3 TRY MICRO-ADVENTURES

Outdoor activities don't need to be expensive or complicated. A micro-adventure could be as simple as watching the sunrise, walking to a local viewpoint, making breakfast outside, visiting a new green space, or planning a bus journey to a nearby nature trail. Encourage teens to plan the route, snacks, and timings themselves to help build their independence.

4 LINK TO REAL INTERESTS

A young person who dislikes sport may still enjoy being outside if the activity connects with something they already care about. Link outdoor time to music, art, animals, fashion, cooking, photography, or social interaction. Ideas include sketching in a park, making a nature playlist, filming a wildlife vlog script, or designing posters for a community garden.

5 CREATE SOCIAL PULL

For many teenagers, friends are the strongest motivator in various areas of life. Parents can invite one or two friends on walks, picnics, or garden games, while schools can promote lunchtime leagues, outdoor clubs, or summer meet-ups linked to existing interests. Make these activities feel social rather than supervised, with adults nearby for safety but not dominating the experience.

6 MAKE TRAVEL ACTIVE

Active travel is a practical way to build outdoor time into everyday routines. Encourage young people to walk, cycle, or scooter short journeys where it's safe to do so, such as to school, the library, a friend's house, or a sports club. Educators could run a summer 'active miles' challenge, with pupils logging their journeys completed on foot or by pedal.

7 USE PHONE-FREE CHALLENGES

Rather than simply saying, "Put your phone away", turn time spent offline into a shared challenge. Try a two-hour, phone-free park visit, a family evening walk, or a tutor-group challenge where pupils track their screen-free outdoor hours and share what they've been doing. You could all agree to keep devices in a box, bag, or classroom drawer, and allow for check-in time afterwards.

8 OFFER REAL RESPONSIBILITY

Teens often respond well when outdoor activities feel purposeful. Give them the responsibility for setting up a garden get-together, planning a picnic budget, leading a warm-up routine, mapping a walking route, or organising outdoor equipment. Schools could ask pupils to design an outdoor wellbeing trail, manage a sports rota, or support younger pupils during activity sessions.

9 REPLACE, DON'T REMOVE

If screens are taken away without an appealing alternative, young people may see outdoor time as a punishment. Replace gaming sessions with football drills, dance practice, basketball shots, treasure hunts, or card games outside. Replace screen scrolling with a 'boredom box' containing items like chalk, a frisbee, skipping ropes, playing cards, seed packets, or a disposable-style camera.

10 CELEBRATE SMALL WINS

Not every teenager will suddenly love the outdoors, so recognise their gradual progress. Celebrate a 20-minute walk, an hour at the park, a phone-free picnic lunch, or choosing to cycle instead of being driven around. Parents and educators can use praise, certificates, group displays, or simple shared reflection to show that outdoor effort matters.
